

Unconditional Love by Eshel Potok

Once a child named Allister saw a girl walking on the street. He walked over to her and asked her, "what's your name?" Her name was Jessica. They talked to each other and Allister asked Jessica about herself. Jessica said "I am nine, I live in Washington. My father is rich, I live in a mansion near the White House." Jessica asked Allister about himself. He said "I am eleven, I live in Washington also. My father is poor and I live in a house far away from the White House." They went to Allister's house, they talked to each other about one another. They became best friends. One day they were playing on a hill. Jessica knocked Allister down the hill. Allister had to go to the hospital. His arm needed amputation but Allister did not hold it against her, they were still best friends. As they grew up, they fell in love and they got married and lived happily ever after.